We never realize our favorite moments
until they have passed.

The moments of laughter
and tears
that our high school years enclose may be those that we will cherish
the most.
Moments pass quickly,
never to be re-gained
or re-lived.

Moments of having a friend
and offering friendship
to another.

Moments to belong
and moments
to feel alone.

Moments to discover identity in the surroundings of the city.

Moments to form ideals -
from the past,
of the present,
and for the future.

Moments to believe
and moments
to question.

Moments
to grab hold of the timidly outstretched hand of the unknown.

Moments of pride
in achievement
or bitter defeat.

Moments
to unite
towards the common goal . . .
and be proud.

Moments of learning;
the core of our purpose.

Moments to be young and old,
strong
and afraid, sure
and uncertain -
all at the same time.

For high school
is only a moment - frozen to last
within the pages
of this book.

A moment to treasure

FROM THIS MOMENT ON.

Sporran Honors Retiring Mr. Taylor With Dedication

September, 1957—A new high school joined the Spokane ranks: The Highlanders of Shadle Park had been born.

At the beginning, Principal William Taylor and a staff of 61 teachers and 5 secretaries greeted 1515 new students and began to build Spokane's most dynamic student body.

In thirteen years 6,025 students have graduated from Shadle Park; over 20,800 students have passed through the "Highland Halls;" 41 of the original staff have gone, but Mr. Taylor has guided the growth of Shadle Park for all 13 years.

Right: Reminiscing over 13 years of work at Shadle, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Rostvold pause in the cafeteria to observe some of the

In September, 1970 Shadle Park will open its doors for its 14th year, but conspicuously, Mr. Taylor will be gone from the home of the Henderson's. As the person who has led this great school to its maturity, Mr. Taylor retires at the close of this school year.

For his great contributions to the institution we know as Shadle Park High School, this book is dedicated to Mr. Taylor: the individual who, to each Highlander, symbolizes the pride, spirit and loyalty that belong to each student at Shadle. In our hearts, and in his, he will always be a "Highlander."

changes that have taken place. Mr. Taylor will retire at the close of the school year after forty-one years in public education.

Above: Promoting Sister School relations, Mr. Taylor greets Mr. Matsumoto, the principal of Higashiko High School, Amagasaki, Japan. Mr. Taylor contributed significantly to Shadle's being recognized for its many contributions to International understanding.

Below: Multitudes of papers and forms are just one of the duties of a principal. Mr. Taylor reflects many moods while working with them, as in all his work.

New Ideas Change English Department's

Mr. Carl Crowe directs his 6th period Advanced Drama class in rehearsing for the play "A Different Drummer" which was presented for the student body in December. Students in the play started rehearsing in October. Students spent much time in memorizing lines and working out the acting.

"More freedom for individual teachers characterized the English Curriculum for 1970," explained Mr. Frank Yuse, English Department Head.

This year's English Department tried new methods of teaching. Guidelines have been set up to give the teachers a bit more freedom in the material they teach.

Many different choices of English were available to the student. Sophomores and Juniors were able to take Humanities for the first time this past year.

English classes took advantage of the visual aids available to them by making films of their interpretations of literature by using the video tape and 16 mm camera.

Mr. Carl Crowe, new to Shadle's faculty this past year, taught the beginning and advanced drama students in the finer points of acting. The advanced students put on a play for the student body entitled "The Different Drummer."

Students with an interest in some special aspect of English had a number of classes to choose from for electives. These included Vocabulary, Shakespeare and Speech classes.

English classes in the past have focused mainly on the set standards of what must be taught. But they have moved away from that and English taught this past year has been related to other subjects taught and more of the teacher's own approach to English, explained Mr. Yuse.

A new debate class was added to the English department this past year. Most of the students enrolled in this class were also on the varsity debate team.

Above: Students in Mr. James McBride's sixth period Vocabulary class actively take part in discussions about the origin and composition of words. A greater knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of the language was achieved by the students.

Below: Students in Mrs. Peggy Gilbert's sixth period Debate class discuss tactics for an upcoming interclass debate match. Basics of debating along with advanced techniques were taught throughout the year. Many of the class members were also on the Varsity Debate team.

Above: Lynne Wellsandt gives one of the many talks that the students enrolled in Mr. Lloyd Fowler's speech class perform to improve their speaking techniques and self confidence. A wide variety of topics was presented this past year.

Above: Janice Dishman pauses to check a question on a make-up test she is giving to other students in Mr. Larry Clark's government class. The test, taking place in the hall outside Mr. Clark's classroom, is similar to many of the objective tests included in the department's examination program.

Above: Concentrating on a lecture about the Civil War are juniors Larry Mulette and Jan Warner, stu-

Below: Some of the 60 members of the sophomore humanities class hurry to complete an assignment dealing with Oedipus the King.

A new class, sophomore humanities, appeared in the social studies curriculum this year. Though humanities has been offered to, and widely accepted by, seniors for four years, this is the first year it has been available at any other grade level at Shadle Park.

Taught cooperatively by Mrs. Georgiana Sutherlin and Mrs. Betty Partridge, sophomore humanities employs three main teaching methods in presenting concepts of world history and literature. Lectures to the entire class of 60; 15-student seminars; and "lab" (experiments in writing and large group discussions) were all used in the new 10th grade study.

Basic courses in the social studies area were offered as usual.

Mr. Donald Miller emphasizes a point as he leads his junior English-history class in a discussion of the Vietnamese war.

Math Helps Students Gain "Logical Thoughts," Skill

"We of the Math Department feel a great responsibility as we realize no other generation of young people has ever needed mathematical education more than the one enrolled in our schools today," stated Mr. Wayne Eacker, Department Head.

He went on to say, "Our aim is to teach these young people to think logically as well as acquire the basic mathematical skills needed to pursue further studies in math and science." This has been accomplished by the use of overhead projectors and the urging of more oral response and participation in class.

Mr. Eacker added that even more important than the accumulation of knowledge of a subject, is the development of an appreciation for that subject. Instilled with a desire to learn, students are encouraged to further their mathematical education and prepare themselves for a future where math is a must.

Below: Junior Christine Stinnett looks to her book for help as she tries to solve one of her algebra problems in Mr. Harvey Lochhead's second period class.

These students have previously completed a course in algebra.

equations in his second period math class. The use of modern equipment aids him in his presentation.

courses in algebra, geometry, and intermediate math.

animal anatomy and minute life-forms in biology classes. Below: Dave Schmidt and Gary Nesbitt labor over one of the many experiments that accompany a course in chemistry. General Chemistry and Chemistry Study were combined into one course.

Science Department Suffer with Crowded Conditions

Crowded conditions hampered the Science Department during the 69-70 school year. Science classes averaged about thirty-seven students per room and the Science Department had to use a Home Economics room for one of its Biology classes.

One year of science was required of high school students. Most students earned their science credit in Biology. Approximately 95% of all sophomores took Biology.

All students did not stop after one year of science, however. About 30% of the juniors took Chemistry. Some 10-15% of the students who had taken Chemistry went on to Physics in their senior year.

About one hundred students took three years of science. About 90% of these one hundred students will seek careers in science, estimated Mr. Tex Clark, in an evaluation of the Science Department.

Mr. Clark, physics and integrated science teacher, talked of a more balanced science curriculum. "One semester of biology, one semester of chemistry, and one semester of physics," stated Mr. Clark, "would give students a more balanced outlook on science than the present two semesters required in one science."

Chemistry classes received new textbooks last year. Shadle was the only school using these books, fulfilling the one year trial period required of all new texts, said Mr. Clark. These books opened the door for new experiments and teaching techniques.

class. Lab assistants duties included helping set up experiments, and putting away chemicals, plus doing any other odd jobs teachers may have for them.

Department Adds Italian Language to '70 Curriculum

Italian has been added to Shadle's language curriculum this year. The subject is being taught by Miss Elena Galliena, a Fulbright Exchange teacher from Milan, Italy.

Also offered for the first time this year is third level Russian, being taught by Mr. Ilmar Kuljus. Russian is the only Asiatic language offered at Shadle.

"Classes this year are what they have always been — teaching the skills of using a foreign tongue and trying to understand their culture and think in their terms," stated Mr. Frank Yuse, head of English and Foreign Language Department.

According to Mr. Yuse the enrollment is about the same as last year even though a new class has been added. One more classroom has been added for the Italian class.

This year no special devices were used. The teachers still use a cross between traditional and the new audio-lingual method. The new concept allows the student to hear a recording of the language and then repeat it to help him understand the pronunciation.

A foreign language gives the student a skill for the future and may help him in attending college.

Below: Attentively taking part in Mr. William Via's first year French class are Bruce Ware, Beth Golden, and Kathy Stover.

Looking at one of her first year student's work is Miss Elena Gal-liena who is from Milan, Italy. Italian is new to Shadle this year.

Administering an oral quiz, Mr. Carlos Flores directs questions to his second year Spanish class.

Mrs. Loretta Sloan lectures as students listen and attempt to understand the fundamentals of first year German.

Addressing his first year Russian class, Mr. Ilmar Kuljus points out an interesting aspect of Russian history. For further understanding, Russian culture is studied as well as the language.

Above: Senior Mike Halbig, Lonnie Gabe, and Charlotta Stillar use the ten-key adding machines to complete a Business Machines assignment.

Business Ed. Department Draws Majority Enrollment

Nearly half the student body was enrolled in the Business Education Courses according to the Dept. Head, Mr. Feldhusen.

General Business, with its usefulness to everyday living, was popular with students as they studied personal business regulations and processes used daily.

Secretarial Science and Shorthand proved to be a well planned program to help the students with everyday office procedures. It also helped them to build their speed when taking dictation.

Business Machines Classes have incorporated a unit of Data Processing, working closely with the school district IBM Center. This class also prepared the students for post-graduate employment.

Below: Transcribing shorthand prepares Judy Odeen for a better opportunity in the Secretarial world. During class she does an assignment from the text book, but students also take dictation and transcribe letters to increase their accuracy.

Mass Communications Earns New Emphasis for '70; Closed Circuit TV, New Paper Advisor Key Change

David Wise, Larry Mulette and Bob Duven work on the microphone and boom. These studio instruments are essential in closed circuit television production.

Right: The central point of all taped programs is the video tape recorder. Working with it are lab assistants, John McDaniels, Kip Conley, Gene Carson, Mark Beazer and Scott Litchfield.

New electronic facilities and a new publication advisor marked a revised mass communications emphasis at Shadle in '70.

A twelve-man student crew operated the three-channel closed circuit TV system, in which live and taped programs are circulated to the classrooms. This enabled the teachers to maintain a classroom atmosphere and avoid traveling to different locations. Three students worked evenings at KSPS-TV for additional experience.

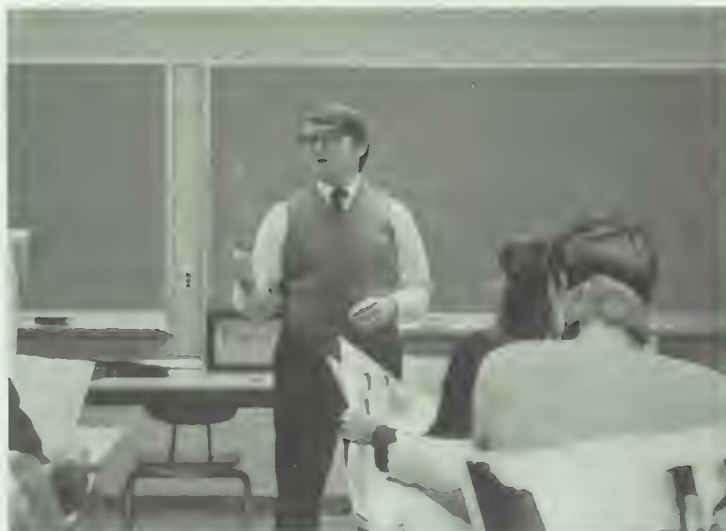

The system was completed for the second semester. Mr. Ted Clark, Closed Circuit TV Coordinator, feels that the program is very promising; providing new benefits for the teacher and the student body.

With the arrival of Mr. Kent Jones as journalism instructor and newspaper advisor, a proposed program would require only a semester of journalism before working on the HI-LITES or the SPOR-RAN. Eventually journalism II will be a course in electronic journalism. The emphasis would be on television journalism — for example the writing and production of news.

Mr. Kent Jones has stated that, "Hopefully journalism can be an exciting experience as the mass media has become such an integral part of our life."

Above: Mr. Kent Jones, new journalism teacher, instructs his class in the essentials of writing for the public's interest.

Journalism, a one semester course, deals primarily with newspaper journalism. The main emphasis is put on writing and editing a newspaper. Karen Bell, sophomore, is looking through the New York Times for an example in feature writing, one of the many types of newspaper writing studied in journalism. Mr. Kent Jones helps the students develop style and accuracy through other models.

Music Department Grows; Organizes Chamber Choir

New sounds echoed from the music department this year as an additional choir formed. Chamber choir was organized as a select, smaller choir to give upperclassmen more advanced music literature. "It gives them a chance to study music in greater depth," said Mr. Melvin Kornmeyer, choral director.

Also included in the choral division this year were concert choir, mixed chorus, Treble Tempos and Highlandaires (the girls' and boys' ensembles).

The instrumental section of Shadle's music department added a new trio, consisting of a violin, cello and piano. Other small performing groups include the brass quartet, trumpet trio, woodwind quintet and two string quartets. The symphonic, concert and stage bands with the orchestra completed the instrumental division.

Students of music kept active during the year by performing in various concerts, convocations, contests and parades. They raised money for trips and new music with a Christmas cookie sale, Pops Concert and spaghetti dinner.

many concerts throughout the year.

Art Curriculum Grows with New Classes

Students enrolled in Art this year had a wide selection of classes to choose from. The 3-D Art of last year had been divided into three separate classes, giving the students a chance to work in a more specific type of art.

Mrs. Geraldine Couture's Commercial Art classes made projects this past year such as Christmas cards, posters, and advertisements.

Students enrolled in Mrs. Faith Snider's painting classes learned the many ways of painting by viewing and actually experimenting with paints. Seniors taking Senior Studio had a chance to express their ideas by using many different types of materials in their work.

Below Left: Julie Schlecht, advanced Commercial Art student, works on a newspaper ad. Commercial Art, like all the other arts, requires 1 year of Basic Art.

Home Ec. Adds Special Interest To School Schedule

Far Left: Mrs. Beal gives assistance to a Chec 1 student on a classroom assignment. This class was to help students with job training. The students had equal time in the classroom as well as on the job.

Below: Concentrating on their work Jim Howell, senior, and Celia Howe, sophomore, make one of the many dishes that Foods I is required to prepare during the semester. Besides cooking, the students learned how to plan a well balanced meal and how to set a table properly.

Home Ec. class, again this year, was one of the most popular courses offered. The department added new staff members and started a new class, Chec 1 and 2.

In the Foods Class, the students planned, prepared and served meals for family and "guests." Girls, as well as boys learned the use and care of equipment, along with money management, and sponsored a Christmas tea for the faculty.

Clothing 1 and 2, provided a basic knowledge of working with new textiles and fabrics. Individuals with special interest or ability could conclude their clothing learning sequence with Tailoring Class.

Child Development helped girls understand how children's personalities develop from birth through adolescence. Special observations were used to further this understanding.

Chec 1 and 2, a new course added in the fall, enabled students to receive both on-the-job and classroom training. Studies included food service and care of the aged.

Social Relations studied the family and its relation to society. The class gives students an understanding of self, family, and the responsibilities to each other.

on her skirt as part of her required Clothing 2 project.

Power Mechanics Utilizes New Room And Equipment

Power Mechanics paced a progressive Industrial Arts Department this year, as the class moved into the remodeled 118-19 classroom and took advantage of new equipment.

Wood and Metal shops enabled many boys to put their talents to practical use. Tables, lamps, and cabinets are just a few of the many projects assembled at school as Christmas presents.

Architectural Drawing students created detailed models from presketched plans. These scale models are furnished with fireplaces, carpets, and staircases, and are used to increase the students' awareness to detail.

"Electricity is essential to progress," or so say students in Electronics classes. This year's classes learned to put that theory to work.

PE Program Offers Multiple Student Training Units

Many feats of performance characterize Shadle's 1970 physical education program. In the fall, students are divided into groups and then rotated each six weeks into different performance areas.

Gymnastics is one unit in Shadle's physical education program, in which each student must spend two three-week periods a year. Agility and coordination are stressed as bodies are stretched.

Swimming, which emphasizes water safety and life saving, alternates with gymnastics. Swimmers are taught to use snorkles and swim fins correctly. Water-basketball, water-soccer, and free swimming are also part of the program.

Sophomores are required to take six weeks of health class where the harmful effects of cigarettes, liquor, and drugs are shown.

Students spend most of the year in the gym learning volleyball, basketball, jolly-ball, and other games when the weather is disagreeable. Football, soccer and cross-country prevail when the weather permits.

leaders' songs and popular records.

Student Workers Give Services To Many

Student workers are ready, reasonable, reliable, and responsible as described by Shadle's administrators. These students are trained to do various jobs in the Shadle offices.

The work includes answering the telephone, balancing records and taking messages from the counselors. This experience can be used in applying for jobs later.

The office, bookroom, library, and stage staff say that without these students helping, the work load would be tremendous and their congenialness makes them pleasant to work with.

Friendships

Recognizing that international understanding must be based upon individual understanding, Shadle again invited an American Field Service student to spend a year in Spokane. A student from Mexico added an extra dimension to Shadle's international program.

A.F.S. student Renzo Morresi, from Bologna, Italy, lived with the Claire Jones family during his stay. He enjoyed his experiences though they were with unfamiliar surroundings.

Renzo remarked that one of his favorite parts of school life at Shadle was the pep cons, and added, "Shadle is very different from my school and I like it."

Jesus Mendez, from Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, came to Spokane while on tour with a choral group. He was persuaded by Mr Robert Wilkening, a friend of his family, to stay and study at Shadle.

Tradition and Spirit Mark Highlander Week

Above: Dancing between acts, Gary Davis, announces each day to be presented during the ASB Highlander Week con on Monday, Hi-Student Day.

Below: Darryl Manfred crawls for Mickey McReynolds as the girls ruled on Tuesday. Rita Caley takes advantage of the "girls only" commons bench rule.

Excitement, embarrassment, and experiencing Shadle traditions for the first time characterized Highlander Week, 1969.

Monday, a day to honor students, brought a con depicting the weeks' activities, along with disappointments as a few teachers failed to honor the no homework tradition! Clansmen auctioned themselves as slaves to Shadle lassies.

Boys being chased by girls while the more fortunate hid were frequent scenes on Tuesday — Hi-Lassie Day.

During lunch the commons was one site for the revenge on Hi-Laddie Day. Lassies were not allowed to sit on the commons benches as the boys enjoyed their privileges on Wednesday.

Hi-Teacher Day brought thanks from the faculty for the festivities held in their honor. The women were given green and gold corsages and the men received apples. Homeroom students made cookies for the afternoon Teacher's Tea.

Enthusiasm, and spirit literally ran rampant at the all school serpentine held before Homeroom on Friday, Hi-Henderson Day. Crowds gathered during lunch to observe the Highland dances and pipers in the commons.

Friday night, after a tough football game, Pep Club sponsored the Highland Fling "100 Pipers." Coronation of the Friendliest Boy and Girl from each class and from the school was held during the dance's intermission.

Climaxing Highlander Week was the Pep Club's "Highland Fling" in the Shadle Park gym. Students renewed old friendships and new ones were made at the traditional mixer. A highlight of the dance was the crowning of the Friendliest Boy and Girl by Pep Club President Lori Campbell and ASB President Jonas Stutzman.

Shadle Students Give Happiness To Others Through

ASB Christmas Projects

Shadle's 1969 Christmas season emphasized giving as students shared time and money to help others. Parties were given for children at the Interlake and Cerebral Palsy Schools, with the annual ASB Christmas Dance ending the holiday week.

Students from Shadle entertained children at the Cerebral Palsy School with a party that has now become an annual event. Each child received toys and candy from "Santa Claus," Mike Murphy. "We enjoy the party as much as the handicapped children do," said Lori Campbell, general chairman of the ASB Christmas projects.

Children at Interlake were also given a party and presented with a projector and toys from the ASB.

Opportunity was given for the students to contribute to the Christmas projects with a con featuring "Alice in Wonderland" on December 9.

"Icicle Ecstasy" themed the Christmas Dance held December 20. The Universal Joint provided music for the annual semi-formal event.

Christmas spirit at Shadle was promoted by the art classes decorating the window panels with the theme "Christmas, 2001."

Decides On Theme Of "Get It Together"

The spring ASB officers worked hard on school unity, spirit, and pride. By reviving some of the old traditions and starting new ones, school enthusiasm grew. "We want to get an active campaign to get people involved that haven't before and normally aren't involved in school activities," stated President Mike Sacco. ASB tried to take a more positive view than had been shown in the past. Not only did this ASB want to "get it together" at Shadle but by being active in the city council they helped get the city schools together. "We hope to leave something for Shadle that all students will feel they had a part in," closed Mike.

Some of the Spring projects were Flag Dedication Convocation, Drug Convocation, and Cotton Day.

Pink, Red, and Silver Accent ASB Sweetheart Dance

Marla Terhark relaxes after being crowned Shadle's Sweetheart for 1970.

Pink, red and silver decorations accented the theme "Heart and Soul," at the annual Sweetheart Dance.

The Wilson McKinley provided music for the couples at the semi-formal, corsage event held February 14.

This year only the boys nominated and voted for the Sweetheart candidates. The nine finalists were Jeanine Hardin, Debbie Vaughn, Rymii Kaio, Debbie Peck, Joan Richter, Marla Terhark, Mary Ann Bickley, Janie Countryman and Becky Stenerson.

Marla Terhark was crowned Sweetheart for 1970.

Queen Jeanine

The scene was the Coliseum on April 17, 1970. On stage, a group of Highlanders crowded around a central figure in a purple robe, singing Shadle Park's Alma Mater.

The event? For the first time in Shadle's history, Shadle's princess was crowned Lilac Queen.

Jeanine Hardin, crowned "Queen Jeanine," emerged triumphant from a series of judgments based 50% on appearance, 30% on personality and poise, and 20% on speaking ability. "I think I'll just sit here a moment until the truth sinks in," she said immediately after her coronation. "I'm so happy."

As Lilac Queen, Jeanine reigned over Lilac Week, held May 9-17. Besides riding on the Lilac float in both the Torchlight and the Armed-Forces Day parades, she traveled to Wenatchee for the Washington Apple Blossom Festival parade and will visit Seattle for the Seattle Seafair parade.

Jeanine summarized the Highlander spirit in her prepared speech when she said, "Shadle Park High School: To most of you those words probably mean very little. But to those of us who go there, they mean a great deal. To us, Shadle is more than just a building, it's a feeling."

For those Shadle students present, Queen Jeanine's statement and her performance strengthened that feeling.

Karen Lorang, Girls' League President, speaks at the Girls' State convocation. She, along with Rymii Kaio and Kathy Whitehead represented Shadle at Evergreen Girls' State. The purpose, she explained, was to give the girls a better understanding of a Democratic society and its functions.

Fall G.L. Traditions Meet

Opening day of school arrived with over 700 new faces of confused sophomores. The first day confusion was soon organized when Girls' League put the Big-Little Sister plan into effect.

To acquaint the girls with some school clubs and activities, Girls' League presented the annual Big-Little Sister con in which officers from Hi-Lassies, Pep Club, Aquatartans, Dileas Chailin, Caileg Clan, Treble Tempos, Highland Dancers, Courtesy Committee and Girls' League gave a brief summary of the functions of their organization.

On October 7th the Girls' State convocation was held. Among the speakers were Rymii Kaio, Karen Lorang, and Kathy Whitehead, all of whom represented Shadle at the annual Evergreen Girls' State in Ellensburg, Wa. The Girls each shared their experiences with us and the Treble Tempos sang "America."

As an honored guest in the con, Maureen Higgins, Girls' State Governor from Marycliff spoke to the group on still another aspect of Girls' State, and related to us some of her fond remembrances. Late nights of whispering after lights out will certainly be remembered, said Maureen.

Girls' League also puts on the annual Sadie Hawkins dance. "It's the only time the girl can chase the guy and still be a lady," said publicity chairman Joanne Barber.

Another activity sponsored by Girls' League is the Dad-Daughter dessert. Here girls and their dads congregated in the cafeteria for a fun filled night of entertainment.

Challenges Created by New Ideas; Cons Unify Girls

Girls' League President, Karen Lorang, was responsible for aiding all committee chairmen, attending leadership conferences and presiding over all meetings.

Chris Peters, Girls' League Vice-President, served as advisor to all committee chairmen, and presided over meetings when Karen was unable to attend.

As Secretary, Carmen Schmidt's duties were to take minutes at all Girls' League meetings and to keep up with all official correspondence.

Sindy Sands, Girls' League Treasurer was responsible for keeping complete and accurate records of any money transactions involving Girls' League.

GL Strives for Unity; Sponsors Cotton Day Activities

Striving to "unify the girls of Shadle Park, become better acquainted with other city schools and to be of service to Shadle," the spring semester Girls' League sponsored city-wide parties, the annual Cotton Day festivities and the Mother - Daughter tea, commented Rose Mary Van Winkle, president.

A school-wide picnic initiated a change-of-pace atmosphere for this year's Cotton Day activities, April 3. Students were given an hour to eat their lunch in the park. Officers felt the new approach was "... a big success," and hoped the picnic could become annual.

The Cotton Day dance concluded the day with its theme "Let the Sun Shine In." The United States of Mind provided music for the girl-ask-boy dance.

In an attempt to create greater city-wide understanding, Shadle GL officers hosted a tea and later a pizza party for the Girls' League officers of the other four city high schools.

Courtesy Committee served as a catalyst for the goal of serving school and community as they ushered at all Choral concerts this year and served as official hostesses at other Shadle events.

Concluding the year's activities the girls hosted the annual Mother - Daughter Tea May 6, as the ladies gathered for entertainment and informal conversation.

Cheerleaders' Duties Include Summer Performances

Shadle cheerleaders show precision in a routine at an afternoon football game this fall. Many long hours were spent practicing before this perfection was achieved.

Shelly Ness and Teri King show how emotions ran high during the Shadle Park-Gonzaga Prep game. Shadle won the game, 46-44.

Shelly Ness wrings her hands nervously as the other cheerleaders pound the floor trying to rally spirit in a close wrestling match.

"We Like Our Team!" yells Teri King as Shadle nears the goal line in the last contest against Ferris. Shadle won the game, 14-6.

Cheering at games was only part of the cheerleaders' duties this year. During the summer, they attended a cheerleading clinic at Ellensburg and performed at River View Terrace for the residents. They also performed for the Shriners and the Elks and visited the Shriners' Hospital before the Shrine game. This year the cheerleaders revised old cheers and made up new ones.

The cheerleaders gave parties with cakes to the different teams during the year. They also gave a spaghetti dinner for the wrestlers. In return they received corsages from the football team and Valentine candy from the Scotsmen.

Shadle Hi-Lassies March, Cheer, Serve School In

Hi-Lassies, Shadle's marching unit, rounded out an active year by marching, cheering at games, and by participating in various service and money making projects.

Hi-Lassies marched at several football games during the fall and also sponsored a family for Thanksgiving. At Christmas time they decorated the Veterans Hospital and caroled.

The annual semester slam was held January 28. Themed "Octopus's Garden," the dance raised about 300 dollars for new uniforms. As publicity for the dance and to raise money, green and gold yarn octopuses were made and sold to students. Besides cheering at the basketball games, Hi-Lassies gave a surprise breakfast for the basketball players after they won first place in the city league.

Active Year

Brownies were made for the swimmers for after their meets and the wrestlers were given a large basket of fruit after their matches.

The annual con titled "Tales of Mother Goose" was the main project second semester. Profits from the show went for new uniforms.

SP Teams

An early start was the key to Pep Club's fall semester. Officers interviewed prospective members at junior highs last spring. An August meeting acquainted new members with club activities and uniforms.

Climaxing Highlander Week was Pep Club's mixer, "100 Pipers." The dance raised $300.00 to support club projects.

Shadle sponsored the first All City Officers meeting to exchange ideas between the city's clubs. One result was the pot-luck dinner with Marycliff at Shadle.

Other activities included preparing skits for Pep Cons.

Pep Club Sparks Spirit for Shadle Spring Sports

"Sack the Saxons" and "Crumple the Tigers" are slogans that Pep Club decorated athletic and debate team members' lockers with before each game during the year.

"Pep Club has taken a tremendous burden off my shoulders and puts on a fantastic Sports Award Dessert each season," exclaimed Mr. Bob Morris, Athletic Director. Among the club's jobs were decorating, serving and preparing recognition certificates.

Sparkling spirit for spring sports, members attended games in their new green and gold spring sweaters.

Scotsmen, Clansmen Earn

Money By Promoting Various Projects During Year

Money-making projects constituted the main activities of both Clansmen and Scotsmen throughout the 69-70 school term. Clansmen sponsored such activities as the KJRB basketball game and the canned food drive during Christmas. Scotsmen acquired money through projects such as dances, car washes, and after school sales.

Scotsmen were subject to two distinct changes. The group name Scotsmen was substituted for the old name, Great Scots. The traditional tartan vests were also replaced by monogrammed gold turtleneck shirts.

Choral Groups Like Pace Of Concert-Filled Schedule

Seven major concerts paced a busy year for the 159 students enrolled in the five choral groups in 1970. Mr. Melvin Kornmeyer directed the students of Chamber Choir, Concert Choir, Mixed Chorus, and Highlandaires and Treble Tempos.

Chamber Choir, a new course in choral study for juniors and seniors, worked with advanced music for high school and college. They also performed with the guest artist, Merrill Womach, in the fall Pops Concert.

Highlandaires and Treble Tempos sang together at many school and public functions, as well as performing separately at other affairs.

Combining efforts with the entire Music Department, the choral students assisted in another successful Spaghetti Dinner second semester.

In the spring the Music Department hosted Glacier High School from Seattle who gave a convocation and a concert.

Though the Mixed Chorus was more of a learning group than a performing one, they did sing at the Christmas Concert and convocation.

Mr. Kornmeyer commented that the courses were to help students gain a better understanding and appreciation of music.

Shadle Park's Bagpipe Band continued to carry on the Scottish tradition of the Highlanders by playing at many school functions.

The Highland dancers added six new members to their group this year. They have also learned several new dances to boost school spirit.

The two groups performed not only at school, but at many functions outside of Shadle Park. They performed on Hi-Henderson day in the Commons and at the Highland Fling that night.

Under the direction of Mr. William Thomas, the groups marched in the Lilac Parade and helped to promote the school spirit Shadle is noted for.

Band Meets

New and exciting challenges faced the concert band during the 1970 season, according to Mr. John Harris, band director.

Half-time performances were prime consideration for the group as they first marched in early September. October 25th the band represented Shadle at WSU's band day, and later in the month they participated in EWSC's Homecoming parade and pre-game ceremonies.

Following mid-year performances in the Christmas and Spring concerts, the band marched in the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Parade and Spokane's Torchlight Parade.

Pops Concert Presents Merrill Womach; Stage Band, Orchestra Accompany Artist

Merrill Womach, professional tenor, appeared as the guest artist for the thirteenth annual Pops Concert held November 21. Mr. Womach performed with Shadle's orchestra, choir and stage band. Songs from his album "A Time For Us" were featured at the concert. "Windmills of Your Mind" and "They Call The Wind Maria," were also included in the program.

Numerous activities highlighted the year for Shadle's bands. The marching band participated in the WSU-California Band Day and in the EWSC homecoming in October. During the Lilac Festival, the band represented Shadle in the Torchlight Parade. The stage band provided entertainment for the Junior Miss Pageant in November and traveled to Moscow, Idaho, Bremerton, Washington, and Reno, Nevada, for music competition.

The orchestra kept busy with concerts and contests. In October, it performed in the Japanese sister school convocation. The orchestra traveled to the University of Idaho for a string festival and also participated in a sight reading clinic.

Among the groups representing Shadle's music department were the instrumental ensembles. The brass quartet, trumpet trio, woodwind quintet, two string quartets and a string trio entertained for various functions during the year.

Hi-Lander Hi-Lites Adopts New Editorial Policy of

The traditional award winning paper that Shadle Park has produced for the past thirteen years, assumed a vigorous outlook involving the entire student body.

Editorials on the likes, dislikes and beliefs of the students was a deciding factor of a successful newspaper.

Mr. Kent Jones, newspaper advisor, has led his staff through the hard grinding work that must be confronted in the production of a paper.

Editor, Kris Jacobson, attended a newspaper workshop at Indiana this summer to help her improve her ability to produce and edit the "Highlander Hi-Lites."

'70 Sporrán

Continuing top national ratings was a major goal of the SPORRAN staff this year. Jeanine Hardin, editor, attended a High School Institute at Indiana University this summer for this purpose.

Last year's book made first class ratings with Columbia Scholastic Press Association and National Scholastic Press Association.

"A sincere effort has been made by the staff to give Shadle Park a memorable and interesting yearbook," commented Diane Schmitz.

Service Clubs Stress School and Community Projects

Shadle's service clubs blend service projects with cultural and social events to round out an active year.

Dileas Chailin's members made Thanksgiving favors for residents of Rivercrest Convalescent Home, helped a needy family at Christmas time and participated in the Easter Lily tag sale. The annual Fine Arts Festival was held in the spring and other activities included an "international" progressive dinner, a dad-daughter potluck, and a sneak breakfast.

Key Club assisted in Shadle Center's window painting contest at Halloween and marched in the Hope Walk on November 11. During the Christmas season, a party was held for children in St. Joseph's orphanage and a turkey and gifts were given to a needy family. The Teens' March of Dimes and the Easter Tag sale were two second semester projects.

Special Interest, Honorary Groups Schedule Activities

Russian Club introduced the winter months with a sledging party at Priest lake. During the year various speakers who have visited and who speak Russian attended Tuesday night meetings to give members an idea of the Russian people and culture.

"Quill and Scroll members are chosen on the basis of outstanding achievement in the field of Journalism, and must be in the upper third of their class," commented Mr. Kent Jones, Quill and Scroll advisor. This year's members were installed at a candlelight ceremony held at Ferris High School.

Mrs. Lenore Haight, advisor for the Library Club, explained the purpose of the Club is to stimulate interest in the library and to promote its use. The club sponsors the sale of paperbacks and as an extension of this, the students managed the sale of additional paperbacks at a book fair.

Language Clubs Employ Traditional Christmas Spirit

Language club members highlighted the year by assisting needy families and caroling at local hospitals during the Christmas season. French club sponsored a breakfast at Sambo's for the initiation of the new members. They also provided French pen-pals for their members and sang Christmas carols to patients at St. Luke's Hospital.

Members of German club heard Mrs. Groenen, who was a student teacher at Shadle in the spring of '69, speak on her native homeland of Germany.

Italian club, new to Shadle this year, began with the writing of their constitution and slides of Italy being shown by Doug and Dennis Chapin.

Spanish club provided two needy families during the Christmas season with toys, clothes and food. The members were also invited to exchange letters with a high school in Tauquian, Mexico.

Talent at Shadle is exercised in Thespians and Talent Club. Students perform at Shadle and various public functions.

Some of the activities put on by the Thespians were Children's Theatre and the play, A Different Drummer. Mr. Carl Crowe, Thespian advisor, feels that the Thespians and Drama Department have done an outstanding job in their play production this year.

"Talent Club invites anyone with an ability to entertain in any way to join the club," commented Mr. Lloyd Fowler, club advisor.

"We work together as well as enjoy each other. We have done almost everything from performing at the Masonic Temple to having a get together at Mr. Fowler's," stated Sue Glass, Club member.

Members of Talent Club often practice before a performance. Paula Carter and Sue Borneman rehearse in front of a few friends

Home Ec, Future Teachers Sponsor Projects, Tutoring

Home Ec and FTA established their 1970 projects goal as "serving others" by charitable work and volunteer tutoring.

Home Ec club members made and filled Christmas stockings for the children of servicemen overseas during December. The project was coordinated through the Red Cross.

FTA initiated a new tutoring program with Glover Jr. High School and Field Elementary School. Members of the club worked with pupils in the schools who needed special academic assistance.

Shadle Park was this year's host for a panel held by all the city Future Teachers clubs on March 5th.

Above and Below: Aqua Tartans strive to further their abilities at synchronized swimming. A great deal of time and practice is required to achieve perfection in the various performances given each year.

For Student Advancement In Non-competitive Sports

Creating opportunities for students to further their interests is the main purpose of both the Aqua Tartans and the ski club, as stated by their advisors.

The Aqua Tartans allow girls to practice synchronized swimming and water ballet. Their main project is a swim show which is given each spring and conducted entirely by the girls, stated Mrs. Dennie Moore, Aqua Tartan advisor. Other activities carried on by the girls include a Christmas swimming party for Morning Star Boy's Ranch, a party for the boys swim team, sleigh rides, and bake sales.

Ski Club is somewhat hindered by a shortage of transportation to resort areas, stated Mr. Gary Leaver, Ski Club advisor. The club cannot travel as a group since the school cannot assume responsibility in case of accidents. Mr. Leaver sees some type of insurance policy as an answer to this problem. The club meets once a week to try and arrange for as many students as possible to get rides from fellow club members.

Highlanders Use Abilities in Caileag Clan, Eldah Tra

Abilities and special interests provided incentive for activity in two of Shadle's clubs this year.

Caileag Clan sponsored monthly Coed Nights throughout the year and a Dad's Night, when cookies were served to fathers attending the January 29 wrestling match.

A progressive dinner, a caroling session at Rivercrest Convalescent Home, a brownie sale, and participation in intramural sports were also on the Caileag Clan 1969-1970 agenda.

Washington Deca State Leadership Conference in March highlighted the year for Shadle DE students. Seven students competed with other DE members from various parts of the state in areas which included speaking, sales, job interview, display, merchandising math, and situation handling.

The class, which teaches students methods of marketing, merchandising, and management, is open to seniors only who work part-time in a distributive field. Deca-Fi, one of two clubs associated with DE, sold candy and class rings. The other club, Hi-Deca, ran the concession stand in the cafeteria.

Carol Holcomb was the state historian for Deca, and Sue Luse and Larry Pearson qualified as representatives to Deca-Thon.

CO-OP is actually a sister-program with DECA, which prepares its students for work in retail stores. This course is new to Shadle's curriculum this year.

Rifle Club members practiced their skills twice weekly, seeking a higher National Rifle Association rating.

The Science Club changed its format somewhat and now concentrates its time in the study of ecology. The club spends much of its effort studying pollution and other related topics.

Competition,

Shadle's High School Bowl team made its way into the semi-finals after defeating Moscow and North Central. High School Bowl, patterned after College Bowl, was designed to show the quick mental recall of the students, not the intelligence or a high I.Q. The High School Bowl games were telecast on K.H.Q. T.V.

"That Congress should prohibit unilateral United States military intervention in foreign countries" was this year's resolution for the Debate team, most of whom were new to debating. A debate workshop was set up at Gonzaga University to give the new debaters a good start on the topic. T.V. debates were added this year to the District 8 league.

Analyzing and arguing world problems ranging from religion to philosophy was the Demarians, a political discussion group. Their goals are to promote the spread of free thought and ideas.

'Inconsistency' Slows Shadle Park's Varsity Football

Above: Evading a tackler, Mike Landry breaks into the open and scoots for yardage in the Rogers game. Interior lineman can be seen blocking downfield. Blocking such as this made the job of the back easier and established, for the Highlanders, a strong running game. Shadle lost this game because they were unable to score in short yardage situations.

Below: Falling for extra yardage as defenders begin to swarm in is Mike Wideman. Wes Graham (85) and Erin Egan (68) block for him. Mike started the year at quarterback, but because of his running ability, was moved to halfback. He gained 335 yards this year and averaged over 5 yards per carry. Also a defensive standout, Mike was second in tackles.

"Inconsistency" is the word which best describes Shadle Park Football, stated coach Gary Davis. The Highlanders lost some they should have won and won some they should have lost. Linemen were praised for their blocking efforts and backs for their tremendous leg drive and determination.

A new offense hindered the Laddies early in the season, but with experience they came on to win three of their last four games. Two early season losses to North Central and Lewis and Clark were revenged in the second half of the season.

Three Scots were given all-city honors. Phil Barker was chosen as a guard by the Chronicle, and as linebacker for the Spokesman-Review.

Bob Donnelly was selected by the Chronicle as all-city center. Mike Pherigo, picked as fullback by the Spokesman-Review, was second in rushing with 661 yards in 117 carries for a 5.6 average.

Shadle Park football was exciting and hard hitting, stated Shadle coaches. Many third down plays brought this excitement to a pitch as the Laddies ball control offense managed a first down.

The first Gonzaga game can be called the team's finest effort. The Highlanders held the Bullpups, who were rated second in the state, to three scoreless quarters. It was only in the last few minutes of the fourth quarter that the Gonzagans salvaged the game.

Above: Straining to stay in bounds, Mike McCammon grits his teeth and fights for extra yardage. This was the first Gonzaga game, in which the state-rated Bullpups were held to 10 points.

Registering a 3-2 season, Shadle's varsity cross country team placed third in the city league competition. The team was dominated by Roger Garza and Mark Diamond, both seniors; and Larry Thibault, a sophomore. All three qualified for the state meet which was held in Seattle.

Of the many meets Shadle hosted this year, the biggest was the 6th annual Highlander Invitational. It drew competitors from eleven different high schools. Placing third in the senior category was Roger Garza; taking a third place in the junior category was Doug Logsdon; and placing fifth for the sophomores was Larry Thibault.

Coach Harvey Lochhead and the team members spent many hours and miles working to get in shape for the 1970 cross country season. He described the team as being, "an outstanding group of boys as far as desire and potential were concerned."

Park was known to have strong runners and finishers throughout the entire Cross Country season.

Park Spirit

Despite their 3-2 record, Shadle's "B" squad cross country team showed marked improvement as the season progressed. The squad, small in quantity but large in quality, matched their ability against other "B" squads, gaining valuable experience for varsity competition.

Described by Coach Lochhead as "an upcoming group of boys" the second string will provide a solid foundation for next year's team.

The team, led by Ken Lillie and Dave Baril, had an overall record of 5 wins and 4 losses. Coach Lochhead said that this year's group of boys have been the best he has ever had at Shadle Park.

typical determination.

Struggling to gain needed experience, this year's Varsity Wrestling Team improved steadily throughout the year. The team, consisting chiefly of juniors and sophomores, defeated Lewis and Clark in a late season win.

The season started early for the wrestlers who underwent days of hard physical training and a strict program of calisthenics. This schedule helped to increase endurance, a major wrestling requirement. After this, the boys broke into groups to challenge each other's ability.

Under the guidance of Coach Lyle Pugh, and assistants Carlos Flores and Dick Naccarrato, wrestlers learned techniques and various holds to improve possibilities of winning.

By performing consistently in matches, several wrestlers earned the 150 points necessary for a varsity letter. With several of these lettermen returning, next season's team may bring promise, concluded Coach Pugh.

"B" Squad Improves Record, Wins Seven Matches

Proving they're not to be underrated, the "B" Squad Wrestling Team started off the year with a win and continued to show strength throughout the year. By working with the team closely, Coach Lyle Pugh helped to create some good prospects for next year's Varsity Team. The team competed in both league and non-league matches.

Also responsible for the team's success were assistant coaches Carlos Flores and Dick Nacarrato. Coach Flores described the team as "quick, strong, and optimistic." Many of these wrestlers earned "B" Squad letters for their victories on the mat.

Shadle Hoopsters Capture City League Championship

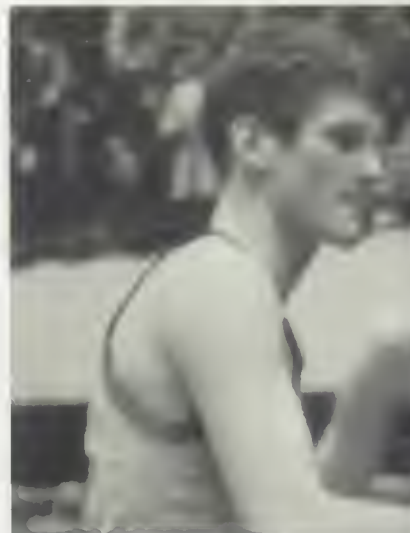

Shadle Park, rebounding from a second place finish last year, captured the city league championship with a 9 won—1 lost record for league play. It was the first time the Highlanders had won the crown since 1961. By taking the championship Shadle was guaranteed a spot in the regional playoffs, the first step toward a state berth.

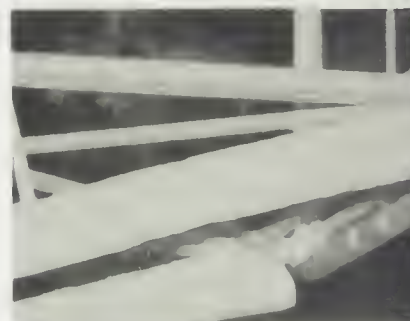

Shadle led the city and valley schools in scoring with a 64.7 points-per-game average. For the first time in Shadle's history a Highlander team scored more than 100 points in a game as Shadle defeated Kellogg 106 to 55. In the last league game of the season Shadle defeated Ferris by a score of 93 to 52, establishing a city record for most points scored in a league game.

Competition

Shadle Park's powerful offense paced them to the city league championship, with only one league loss, that to Lewis and Clark, 46-39.

Because of its first place standing, Shadle drew a bye in the first round of the District 8 playoffs. In an exciting second round they lost to the Central Valley Bears, 54-49.

Ready for a comeback, they then defeated L. C. 68-54, to gain a spot in the No. 2 position game the next night with C.V. They lost 56-48, ending the season on a sad note.

Three Shadle players were honored by area publications as The Spokesman-Review named seniors Bill Fahey and Mike Augustine to its All-City first team and junior Bob Jorgensen to the second. All three were declared first team members by the Spokane Daily Chronicle.

B Squad Struggles For First Place In City League

Team work proved to be the key factor as the B squad took the city championship with a record of 11 wins and 4 losses.

The team averaged 47.5 points per game and 41.7 on rebounds.

Coach Elvington stated, "It has been a very successful season for us and we are proud to be the city champions. If one takes time to look over the statistics, you can see that our strength lay primarily in the defensive phase of the game. Rebounding was exceptional and we held our opponents to 40.7 points per game."

Coach went on to say, "To become the city champions required a team effort—and this we got!"

Girl Gymnasts Take State; '70 Boys' Team Expands

Shadle's gymnastics teams' season was highlighted this year by the girls' gymnastics team winning first place in the state meet.

The team, having breezed through a season of 24 straight victories, took the city and regional championships before going to state. At state, Kathy Whitehead won 2nd place in exercise, 3rd in trampoline, 5th in both vaulting and the uneven bars and 7th in tumbling. Patty Rautio took first in vaulting, 3rd in tumbling, 5th in trampoline and 6th in exercise. Also representing Shadle was Janice Wright, who placed 4th in balance beam and 6th in vaulting. In individual judging, Patty Rautio won 2nd place, all-around and Kathy Whitehead won 3rd place.

The boys' gymnastics team expanded greatly in size as it consisted of 22 members this year. Because no other city high school has a boys' gymnastics team, Shadle met with schools from towns in the surrounding area and attended some all-state invitational meets. Only one member of the team was a senior so the year was "mainly a building year," according to Mr. Flores, the team's coach.

Shadle Park Track Team

This year Shadle Park has the best track team it's had so far. The running events, which consist of the ½ mile, 2 mile, 100, 220, 440 and the high hurdles, are the team's strongest areas. Out of the eighty team members Mark Diamond and Barry Sartz are leading the way. In their first league meet they downed C.V. 105-22.

The team comes every night after school and on Saturdays for practice. Practice consists of a half hour of calisthenics followed by running a mile on the cross country course then they each go to their own particular areas and work in their special field.

Varsity Ball

"1970 City League baseball promises to be the best in several ways," predicted coach Joseph Heslin. "LC, Ferris, Gonzaga, and Shadle all have strong returning teams."

High School baseball has no state tournament but at the end of the season there is a Border League playoff, stated Coach Heslin. "Coaches would like State Playoffs but school principals don't like the idea," he said. "Their main objection, I imagine, would be the costs involved."

Try-outs for B-Baseball began in early March and after weeks of batting and fielding practice twenty-one sophomores were chosen in the final cut.

Coached by Jim Brown, Shadle's B-Squad began their season on April 14 facing Gonzaga for the first test of strength. The team played a total of 15 league games, facing each city school three times.

At the beginning of the season, Coach Brown commented, "It's a real fine team, and I think we'll do well this year."

Golf Teams Take Top Honors in All-City Competition

Both the boys' and girls' Golf teams took first in their undefeated fall season this year in all-city competition.

Shadle's varsity golf squads consisted of the best six players of the team.

The city league matches were held at Downriver Golf Course which also provided fairways for practices three days out of each week.

Shadle's girls' golf team, coached by Miss Karen Azone, was the only girls' golf team in the city league with full team quota needed for play.

Boys' B Tennis Team Loses One Match

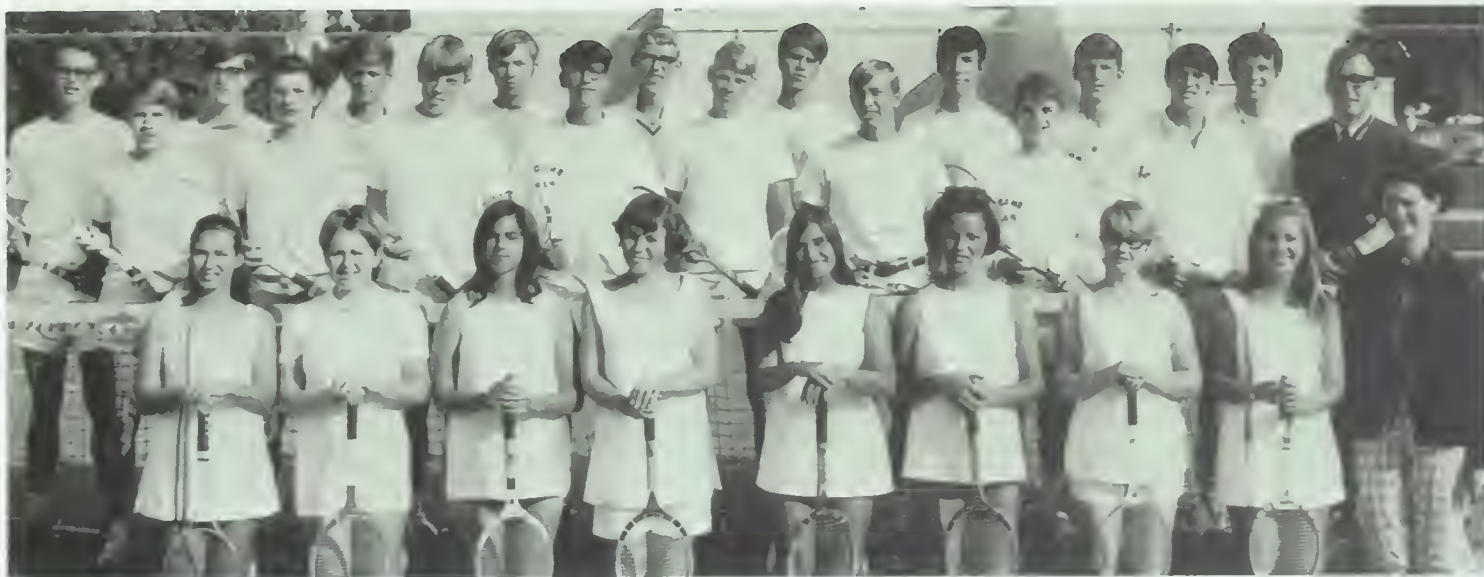

Shadle's boys' B tennis team played the fall season with only one defeat in eight matches. They hoped that they would have a score of eight wins and no losses for this spring.

The boys' varsity team came out of the fall season with five wins and five losses. Coach Marvin Anderson said, "The boys were really enthusiastic about playing in the games this spring."

Miss Roberta Groth, the new coach for the girls' tennis team, says, "After watching the girls last fall, I felt better equipped to help them prepare for this spring."

School District Adds New Classes to '70 Curriculum

Highlighting Shadle's curriculum development this year was the new power mechanics lab, closed circuit T.V., sophomore humanities and freshman football, emphasized Dr. Albert Ayars, Superintendent of Spokane Public Schools.

The power mechanics lab is an elective open to all boys and allows the student to develop skills for future jobs. This gives the student a basic idea of what will be required in the work area which he is studying.

Closed circuit T.V., a system in which students are able to view supplementary material by a taped or televised program, provides the teacher with an easy and convenient resource in teaching. Great expansion in this area is expected for the future.

Humanities has increased to provide for a sophomore class. Dr. Ayars stated that the Humanities course has been expanded to give more recognition to history and culture. Dr. Ayars also stated that he felt that this course brought the students closer together in their feelings for our culture.

Freshman football has also been a point of interest to Dr. Ayars. He feels that since Shadle Park hasn't a Freshman class, it has taken on a commendable service to not only the school but also the community. The community has also taken on a great interest in the development of Freshman football. This operation was a great success.

Stressing occupational skills, the schools have also added work experience programs for students. Home Economics has offered Chec I and II. The students in this program work one hour a day in the community and spend one hour a day in class. A similar program is Co-Op, which works in the same manner as Chec I and II. Distributive Education has also increased.

Discussing current concerns of the School District are Dr. Ayars and the Board Members. The School Board meets every second and fourth Wednesday.

Dr. Walter Hitchcock, Deputy Superintendent.
Mr. Orville Barnes, Board Member.

Dr. Robert H. Williams, Assistant Superintendent.
Mrs. Helen Rymond, Board Member.

Dr. Eleanor Peterson, Assistant Superintendent.
Mr. Byron L. Swanson, Board Member.

Mr. John R. Warn, Board Member.
Mr. Robert A. Taylor, Board Member.

Schools.

interested people. The Board Members serve six years.

hibits a sample of fine portrait quality. The retiring art instructor looks forward to next year when she will have leisure time to devote to art projects of her own.

Shadle Loses 2 Staff

New Administrative assignments in the fall and two retirements in the spring brought several changes to Shadle for 1970.

Mr. Keith Rostvold and Mr. Don Cobb assumed new positions as assistants to Principal Mr. William Taylor as school opened. In mid-spring Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Faith Snider, head of the art department for Shadle's 13 years of operation, both announced their retirements.

Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Snider had both come to Shadle in the summer of 1957 as the new building opened for its first classes.

During this period, Mrs. Snider led the department to a position of prominence in the city and region. "I want the department to reflect all that is fine in human values and art quality, with excellent instruction to promote growth for every student," she stated in her opening plans for the department.

In addition to her work with the students, she personally has built at Shadle the finest file of art education materials available in the Northwest.

The Sporran, with the rest of Shadle's staff and student body gives special recognition to Mrs. Snider for her years of leadership.

Working with the student body this year, the administration approved a new dress code in the form of a "statement of trust" and the policy of open campus was continued.

Other administrative personnel in the central office included Miss Helen Cleveland, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Bob Kuehl, Dean of Boys. Counseling the classes were: Mrs. Olga Iverson, seniors; Mr. Gary Leaver and Mrs. Joyce Johnson, juniors; and Mr. Wayne Chandler, sophomores.

As Registrar Mr. Wayne Connor tackled the massive problems of scheduling for the 2308 students, and Business Manager Mr. Bob Stockman kept all of Shadle's accounts.

Mrs. Faith Snider, head of Shadle's art department for 13 years, leaves Shadle Park with one of the widest varieties of art instruction available and has produced more student winners in national competition than any high school in the city. Below: Thumbing through an art magazine, Mrs. Snider brushes up on new instruction concepts. "My goal is to keep studying and planning so I may improve everything I teach and develop the finest art department in the state," she commented.

Mrs. Forsyth examines a composition written on the different ideas expressed in Huckleberry Finn.

Cooks, Custodians Provide Vital Service To Shadle

Park are Alice Nelson, Manlyn Walker and Thelma Hedin, cafeteria manager.

With a new policy of Open Campus, the amount of lunches served here at Shadle has been affected "to a certain extent" commented Thelma Hedin, manager. But even with Open Campus there are approximately 900 lunches served daily and nearly 6,000 bottles of milk are purchased every week.

Every day eleven custodians and one matron completely clean the building. Besides the regular sweeping and ridding of refuse they also handle the heating and ventilation. The major maintenance problems are the care of floors and windows.

Cafeteria cooks are: Front Row: Phyllis Swanby, Martha Meyer, Louise Vinson, Thelma Darling,

Clara Ninemire, Thelma Hedin. Row 2: Lucille Lantz, Alice Nelson, Claryce Grimm, Donna Dotson, Marlyn Walker. Row 3: Bonnie Estes, Marie Brown.

Mrs. Claryce Grimm makes milkshakes on the milkshake machine which was a new addition last year. Chocolate, vanilla and strawberry are the usual flavors, but occasionally banana, pineapple or cherry shakes are prepared.

Classmates

Activities such as the annual Senior Con, a senior boys-sponsored dance, and according to Don Moe, class president, "other small money raising projects," kept the Class busy throughout the fall semester.

The most successful of the senior class projects was the Senior Con which raised over $850.

During Christmas the Seniors raised over $150 in baby food and supplies which they gave to a needy family which had just had triplets.

"It's a Man's World" themed the senior boys dance held in October for the entire school.

Below: A barbershop quartet performs in the "Carnival" scene from the Senior Con. Quartet members include John Reamer, John Eisenhower, Paul Rodkey, and Mike Schmitt.

Council Plans Graduating Seniors' Closing Activities

Frolicking in the hall, seniors Donna Danielson, Steve Sanborn, Julie Chinn, Judy Potter, and Bruce Rice take advantage of Senior Sports Clothes Day, a spring activity set aside for them.

Completing three years at Shadle, the Class of '70 faced an event-packed spring semester centered through the effort of the spring class officers and council.

The Annual Senior Prom was held on May 16 at the Fort Wright Commons and was considered the highlight of the year by most seniors.

The Seniors "romped" through the halls on Senior Sports Clothes Day, dressed in their best on Dress Up Day, and traded positions with the faculty and advisors on Senior Rule Day.

Seniors ate "hearty meals" during the last few days of school, one of which was the barbeque. The other was the traditional breakfast held on the morning of the Commencement exercises.

Thoughts of the past flashed through the minds of over 750 seniors as they stepped into the symbolic Class of '70 door, received their diplomas, and descended the steps from the Coliseum stage and High School years.

Below: Senior Sherri McCullough explains Shadle routine to her sophomore little sister. The annual fall project is sponsored by Girl's League.

Build Shadle Spirit Through Involvement and Action

Getting acquainted with Shadle and its traditions posed many new problems for the class of '72. Problems like where to go, what to do, and how to act were in the minds of all the new students on opening day. To help students, an hour-long orientation con was held during the first week of school. It offered simple solutions to those and other questions.

Traditionally the sophomore class remains inactive for the first semester as it completes its adjustment period.

Writing and ratifying a class constitution and electing class officers were on the agenda for the spring semester.

Boasting an enrollment of 770, sophomores represented one of the largest classes in Shadle history. Rapidly blending with the students in the congested halls, the sophomores lost their look of confusion. They learned how to become a part of Shadle and uphold typical Shadle Park spirit.

Above: All Highlanders gathered in late September for the annual Pep Club Highland Fling. The dance concludes Highlander

Week — the official welcome to all sophomores and new students. By then all students have been absorbed into the Shadle Clan.

with Walt Gray about graduation requirements. Homeroom teachers also aid individual students in course selections.

HERE IT IS ANOTHER JUNE

But there was never one like this for you, the members of the class of '70

You stand on the first of many pinnacles that will be coming in sight. No need to look back, that trail has been climbed.

Look at the horizon, those peaks are equally attainable.

May you travel among friends
